Proven Science

At the heart of the tools is a multifaceted psychometric instrument (developed by Humantelligence™) that measures Work Motivators, Work Behaviors, Ideal Work, and Life Priorities. It provides important insights about communication styles, and learning and teaching styles, among many others.

- Unique: is the only instrument on the market that covers four interrelated elements in one integrated assessment
- Fast: has short response time as can be completed in 15 minutes minimizing the potential for respondent bias due to fatigue
- Accurate: shown to meet strict validity and reliability standards over decades of research
- Easy: conducted through a mobile-friendly questionnaire that requires no preparation or special knowledge to complete
